Special Six Months' Policy

(Private Passenger Cars)

Most 4 Cylinder Cars $11.00
Most 6 Cylinder Cars 13.50

If you don't invest this small sum to provide a fund for your victim or his dependents now, after the accident you may have another family to support out of your salary.

The possession of the above policy enables you to buy:

COLLISION INSURANCE (Damage to YOUR OWN CAR), the most popular form when your car is a wreck by the roadside. Exultant, "Yes, I am insured" often terminates with the crestfallen and apologetic phrase, "but my insurance does not cover this kind of a loss." If you carry only liability insurance and your company decides you are at fault, the other fellow is fixed up nicely and you are left to stand your own loss. Our "Cover-Both-Ways" policy also pays YOUR damage in excess of a small retention, regardless of who is at fault. We offer special low rate for this coverage.

A wife's noblest work

The wife who helps her man to get somewhere is entitled to a whole lot more credit than she usually gets.

Often, she is the one who starts the man on the road to success by leading the way in matters of thrift.

Handicaps there may be, but you can trust the earnest woman to "get over them, through them or around them—any way to leave them behind."

There are a lot of fine women who come here regularly to deposit their family savings.

To them all we extend a heartfelt welcome.

Too much rest itself becomes a pain—Homer.

A resolute army of 15 expert woodchoppers is making the chips fly on the Hall farm at Point Thorne. South Thorne is the result of Charles S. Hall's contract to furnish a large quantity of pulpwood for the Eastern Manufacturing Co. of Brewer. It is expected that the crew will cut and peel between 600 and 1000 cords, which will be shipped to the pulp mill on the railroad barge, which brought the mansion from Philadelphia to Rockport two years ago. It is expected that two trips will be sufficient to care for the commitment, which will be loaded in the cove near Pleasant Beach. The woodchoppers, meantime, are being quartered in the Anderson cottage at Pleasant Beach and have their own cook. It will interest many readers to know that the pulpwood is to be used in the manufacture of rayon silk.

"ON MY SET"

The New England stations which will broadcast the Dempsey-Sharkey fight at the Yankee Stadium, New York Thursday night, July 21, include WCHS, WEEI, and WBZ. Graham McNamee will describe the action during the bout and Phillips Carlin will furnish the sidelights between the rounds. It is expected that the bout will go on the air between 9:30 and 10 p. m., Eastern daylight time.

Light opera, male quartet, Hawaiian band, organ and dance music from New York city will be featured weekly through WEI during the summer as the result of a new "hot weather" policy at the Edison station. Each week day night regular non-commercial programs originating in the studios of WEAF will be sent over the wires for the local audience of WEI. This new policy goes into effect Monday, July 11. The added features to be heard include the South Sea Islanders and Goldman Band Monday nights; Jack Albin's orchestra and the Four Bards in Songs of the City, Tuesday; the Organ Masters, Wednesday; an hour of the WEAF light opera; Thursday, and a full hour and half of the Goldman Band concert direct from the campus of New York University, Saturday night, each week.

KLAN HEARD SUNDAY

The largest meeting which has yet greeted Evangelist Billy Sunday in his campaign at Bangor took place last Friday evening and was attended by 500 hooded, masked and robed Ku Klux Klansmen. They entered the building unannounced, made several rounds of the auditorium, and went through some of their rites. They were greeted by Sunday, who said: "You have been lied about and they have lied about me." Last Sunday marked the close of his meetings in Bangor.

CONVICT AT LARGE

Dogs Follow Scent To Warren Swamps After George Ethier Scales Prison Wall.

The aid of bloodhounds was invoked yesterday in the pursuit of George Ethier, a convict who escaped early in the morning from the State prison. Co-operating in the search with Warden Baker and prison guards were members of the State Highway Police and Sheriff Harding's department. Ethier was committed from Bangor Nov. 5, 1925, on the charge of rape, the sentence being from seven to 14 years. As a prisoner he had given little or no trouble, and was serving as a member of the kitchen crew. In this capacity he went to the yard yesterday morning before the guard had taken his position on the western wall, and with the aid of a long rope, to which he had fastened an ingeniously made hook he succeeded in making his way out of the grounds.

As he was mounting the wall he was seen by another convict, who reported the act to the prison officials. Search was at once instituted, and belief was expressed that the convict had jumped a freight at the Thompson station. All the other stations along the line were notified, and a careful search of the cars was made at Newcastle without results.

When he left the prison Ethier wore khaki pants and a silk shirt which he had won in one of the Fourth of July athletic events. He lost his cap in his hasty exit.

Ethier is 33 years of age, weighs 151 pounds and is 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches tall. He has chestnut hair, brown eyes, a florid complexion and some gold teeth. His forehead is high and he combs his hair back.

The search was continued until midnight, at which time the dogs had followed what they believed to be his scent to swamps in Warren.

NOT KNOWN HERE

Supposed Suicide Leaves Note For Mrs. Margaret Gardner, Rockland, Me.

An Associated Press despatch from Lewiston, Penn., which appeared in yesterday's dailies said:

"A note attached to clothing found on the bridge that spans the Juniata River at Moverstown today reads:

"Please notify Mrs. Margaret Gardner, 1880 Gillisport avenue, Rockland, Me., that have decided to end my worldly misfortunes by drowning. I cannot keep on living this life any longer. Tell her to take care of the kiddies and put them in some institution."

"The note was signed by Robert Gardner. No one has been found who saw the person who placed the clothes on the bridge and no body has been recovered."

On the assumption that the despatch meant Tillson avenue, a Courier-Gazette reporter made inquiry in that locality yesterday. The name was unknown to those closely in touch with the inhabitants of Crockett's Point. The Courier-Gazette would be interested to learn if anybody knows of the parties in question.

Roland C. Weed was committed to the institution at West Pownal yesterday, being taken thither by Deputy Sheriff Ludwick.

ROCKLAND STANDS READY

Its Citizens Will Prove Their Faith In Community Chest Next Week—The Details of the Campaign.

All is in readiness for Rockland's fourth Community Chest campaign, which opens with an organization meeting Monday night in Temple hall at 7:30. The actual canvassing will start the following morning with a house to house coverage of the residential and business sections, also a tour of the industrial plants. Noon lunches will be held daily Tuesday through Friday when it is expected that the goal of $16,000, will have been attained.

The Community Chest idea is already a fixture in Rockland. For three years it has been in successful operation and its results have justified its existence many times over. Under the Community Chest plan a single campaign is made for the support of all the city's charities, they operating under leaders with all bills met from the general fund. It has resulted in a great saving of time, money and labor in duplication of effort by eliminating the series of money raising drives and tag days spread through the year and it has greatly increased the efficiency of all the organizations helping the executives to work instead of striving to meet the financial obligations of their unit.

There is a great mass of detail and weeks of labor connected with such a large scale campaign and this year instead of hiring a high priced campaign director the great task was entrusted to a local man, Edward R. Veazie, who has been hard at work these past weeks and has the campaign well in hand with committees and teams in line and ready for the word to go.

With Mr. Veazie as general chairman is associated Carl H. Duff as captain of the Men's Division and business section; Putnam P. Bicknell as captain of the Industrial Division and Miss Lucy Rhodes as heading the Women's Division. The many other teams cooperating in the residential sections will be laid out at the Monday night meeting. Miss Rhodes has announced these ward captains: Ward 1, Mrs. Louise Brown; Ward 2, Miss Eileen Perry; Ward 3, Miss Doris Black and Mrs. W. O. Fuller; Ward 4, Mrs. Esther Bird; Ward 5, Miss Pearl Borgerson; Ward 6, Mrs. L. H. Roberts; Ward 7, Mrs. Loretta Hicknell.

Mr. Duff will operate these men in groups of two:

He wishes to especially stress the necessity of all team workers being at Temple hall Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Those workers who go out on their canvass Tuesday morning of next week and the goal will be $16,000. The benefiting organizations are the Red Cross, Home for Aged Women, Salvation Army, Children's Playground, Rockland Boy Scouts, Rockland Girl Scouts, School Dental Clinic and Civil War Memorial Building Association.

The meeting Monday night is public and of vital importance to every citizen. It is very important that every team worker, captain and supporter be present to receive materials and instructions. The meeting will be brief and interesting with absolutely no solicitation.

WHEN KIRK'S HAIR ROSE

Bull Moose and Cow Moose Give Resident of the Bog Road a Very Unhappy Half Hour.

Admitting that the hair stood straight on his head and that he was never half so scared in his life, Willard R. Kirk of the Bog Road was down-town yesterday telling of his experience with a bull moose and a cow moose.

He was chopping wood for Mr. Carleton when the incident occurred, the scene being laid in the Bog woods about half a mile from his house. The chips were falling right merrily, and Mr. Kirk was indulging in the daydreams which come to a man who works in solitude amid the wonders of nature.

The daydream was interrupted when the trained ear of the wood-chopper caught the crunching sound made by some heavy animal.

Suddenly a cow moose jumped over the top of a windfall, closely followed by a bull moose, which, according to Mr. Kirk's subsequent estimate, must have weighed at least 900 pounds. Like the gallant escort that he was, Mr. Bull Moose resented the presence of a human while he was out on his strolls, and began pawing the earth and bellowing at a furious rate.

Mr. Kirk was a guide and hunter for eight years in the Moosehead region, and is thoroughly familiar with big game, but in all that experience he was never caught unarmed in such close quarters by an enraged bull moose.

What he did was to fetch a leap onto a convenient pile of chips, and with a deft deflection of the lightning hurled a threat in the general direction of the bull moose. The latter's knowledge of the English language was too limited to understand the purport of the wood-chopper's remarks, but he evidently understood the hostile intent back of them for he continued to paw and bellow.

Man and beast were separated only by about 25 feet and being on top of a legal cord of wood it follows that Mr. Kirk was only four feet from the ground. Small wonder that he scanned the neighborhood for an available tree, small wonder, also, that his hair continued to maintain the perpendicular position which it had assumed the moment he spotted the moose.

The cow moose meantime was grazing contentedly around the woodpile, depositing utmost confidence in her male companion's ability to subdue an ordinary woodsman.

For half an hour this game of cross purposes continued, the monarch of the forest pawing the earth and roaring and the man standing atop of the woodpile holding his axe with trembling fingers. If you don't think half an hour is a long time, under such circumstances, try Mr. Kirk's experience sometime.

The chopper finally dropped behind the pile of wood, the cow moose stood on the woodpile, and the bull moose, just as mad as ever followed her example.

Mr. Kirk beat it for civilization. "If my gun had been with me I should certainly have shot the moose in self-defense," Mr. Kirk told a Courier-Gazette reporter.

There was no further hailing distance and the thrilling scene in the backwoods had no witnesses. The time of day was between 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

"I was frightened and I am not ashamed to own it," says Mr. Kirk.

PARK THEATRE

Jimmie Evans Coming Next Week With His Ever Popular Musical Revue.

When the Jimmie Evans Musical Revue opens its engagement at Park Theatre Monday afternoon, the Rockland theatregoers will have an opportunity of seeing one of the best musical show companies which has visited Maine in many months. On the present tour of Maine the company will be at Park Theatre all next week, having gained for itself a reputation as first class entertainers and in all cities they have played they have drawn large audiences.

The feature for Monday and Tuesday will be "The Clown," featuring Johnnie Walker and Dorothy Reyer, circus man, whose wife and baby have made up his whole life, is sentenced to prison for the murder of his wife on the false charge of his partner. After 18 years, while yet in prison, he sees his daughter, who thinks him dead, and his old enemy, during a performance which the circus gives at the prison. The sight of the male arouses his desire for revenge. He escapes from the prison and goes back to the circus in clown make-up, so that he shall not be recognized. The events that follow—in which he gains his revenge and secures his daughter's happiness—but sacrifices his own life, are worked out logically, and move swiftly.

There will be an entire change of program on Wednesday and Thursday. Seats are now on sale.—adv.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Sea and Shore Fisheries Commission is having a meeting at New Meadows Inn today.

The funeral services of the late Charles G. Kirk, who died suddenly at his home on Maple street, Thursday afternoon, will be held there this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Capt. Ivan Cunningham has joined a steamship operated by the American Export Line, as chief mate, and embarks next week on a voyage to Italy. Charles W. Kallio, formerly of Rockland, is port captain for this line at New York.

D. H. Fuller had a unique motor-riding experience down Ellsworth way this week, when his car ran into a flock of bees that were engaged in swarming. The speed of the car drove the bees inside and Don had a lively time before he could get rid of them. No casualties.

A threatening fire from cause unknown developed in the garage of the Berry estate, Talbot avenue, yesterday afternoon and resulted in some damage to the building. Engine 2 in charge of Capt. Cheyne responded and made an excellent stop. It was Chief Pettie's first fire under the present administration.

Dr. Neil A. Foxg returned Thursday from Sydney, N. S., whither he had accompanied Commander Donald B. MacMillan, on the exploration schooner Bowdoin. That leg of the northward journey was accomplished without special incident, and everything was going right well with the party when Dr. Foxg set his face regretfully homeward. He would very much have liked to extend his trip into the sub-Arctic where Commander MacMillan is to conduct his scientific explorations, but other plans for later in the season prevented.

A genuine surprise resulted from the concert of the Boys' Band at Children's Playground Thursday night. Heavy rain in the afternoon and weeping skies at supper time led to rumors of postponement, yet the band played as scheduled and an unbelievably large crowd appeared from nowhere, utilizing the covered seats, standing with umbrellas and occupying cars along the neighborhood streets. The playground provided an ideal spot for the concert though the bandstand was filled to bursting. Director Kirkpatrick was hugely pleased with the loyalty shown by the public.

Drews famous Wonderland Shows are coming to Rockland next week, opening July 11 on Park street, near Broad. There will be no admission to the grounds and there will be many attractions. There are a number of rides and slides which invariably prove enjoyable and the games provide much amusement. The show played in Owls Head recently and was highly spoken of at the conclusion of a week's engagement. Following that stand the show went to Belfast where it was also well received and invited to return as was the case at Owl's Head. Next week Rockland folks will see the show which consists of a merry-go-round, a Ferris wheel, a smaller merry-go-round, vaudeville and ten concessions or games of skill.

Joy reigned unconfined at Oakland Park yesterday on the occasion of the first Children's Playground picnic. About 150 youngsters marked the perfect order and board of the car provided by the Central Maine Power Co., crossing under the watchful eye of Officer Price and ex-Alderman Ulmer. They were marshalled by Director Rogers assisted by Misses Kathleen and Nellie Snow and Daphne Winslow. At the picnic the youngsters did nothing undone that could contribute to the success of the day, cooking the hot dogs, (contributed by E. L. Keene) cooling the soda, providing the ice cream and being everywhere useful. The day passed to the music of joyous young voices and the homeward trip was made at 3:30 threatening skies in no way dampening the fervor of the party. The next picnic will be held in about three weeks when an even larger crowd is expected.

After a two-hour battle the forces opposing the coming of carnivals to Rockland went down to overwhelming defeat at a special meeting of the City Council last night. For several years there had been a well defined adverse sentiment in the licensing board with the result that there has been a scarcity of the shows. Last night's fight was precipitated by irregularities in seeking a license by a show, it going to individual aldermen instead of through licensing board and regular meeting. No word was said against the particular show which recently played in a neighboring town, rather it was well spoken of, but the objection was to the principle of the travelling show with its rides, vaudeville and games of skill. The voice of the opposition was a solo at first and later gained recruits, the Chamber of Commerce and Chief of Police also registering against the idea, but in the final showdown the original objector had but a single supporter.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

IN THE PINE GROVES

Here is a quiet place where one may dream The hours away and be content. It shines With many a shadow spot and golden gleam Under the murmur of those sweetly pines. About the level russet-matted floor. Each like a star in his appointed station. The sole-dowered, scented pyramids by the score Stand with heads drooped in fragrant meditation. The penicillate thrush, the hermit of the wood, Dreams far within, and piping at his leisure, Tells to the hills the forest's inmost mood. Of memory and its solitary pleasure. Earth only, and sun are here, and shadow and trees And thoughts that are eternal even as these. —Archibald Lampman.

AN ASSET OF OUR CITY

The work preparatory to the annual canvass of the Community Chest has been going on for some little time, greasing the ways for the launching of the campaign, next Monday evening. Three successful years of the Chest supply sufficient ground for this movement to insure its continuance another year. The wisdom of handling the campaign with home resources has been demonstrated and the machinery of the Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Secretary Lord, will again be engaged in carrying on the work, effecting thereby a saving of fifteen hundred dollars in expenses which were attendant upon the opening years of the Chest.

So smoothly does the work of the several public beneficiaries go on during the year that citizens are apt to overlook the fact that this smoothness is the direct product of the Chest. Who does not recall the multiplied drives which each year used to keep the city stirred up and the volunteer workers in their weary of life? Then the Chest came into being. Its single campaign taking the place of many. That Rockland, the one city in Maine blessed with the Community Chest should willingly go back to the old method is unthinkable.

Let us see to it that next week's campaign goes over with a bang.

Congratulations to our contemporary the Camden Herald, whose after-the-fire issue is a handsome and vigorous sheet with not so much as the smell of fire upon its garments. The seven-column sheet is the product of the Bath Times print and we get the impression that the Herald publisher is pleased with its appearance, for he appends to an announcement that he is to have a new and up-to-date newspaper press, the request that his readers voice their preference for the former six-column sheet of twelve pages or this emergency issue of eight pages. As a Herald reader we vote for the latter form and believe its publisher will find it the more satisfactory. A fire in a printing office is for a moment a sore calamity (we've had two of 'em) but invariably it results in improvements. We perceive by our contemporary's announcement that the result is going to be the same in this case.

Rotary luncheon yesterday was addressed by its two members lately arrived home from Europe, where after a tour, accompanied by their wives, they attended at Ostend the international convention of Rotarians. Clarence E. Daniels as the club's delegate and Charles W. Sheldon as his traveling first lieutenant. Mr. Sheldon, briefly sketching some of his impressions as a tourist, saw in Pompeii that the surgeons of that period two thousand years ago possessed implements much like those of the profession today and also were adept in acquiring wealth through fees. Rome was fascinating, as was also Venice, but London was best of all, where Rotarian hospitality beyond description was lavished upon the American visitors. Describing the battlefields of France, and noting the preparations for another war, he said that the hope for world peace lay along the lines being fostered by Rotary International and similar clubs. Mr. Daniels dealt chiefly with the convention itself, in which nine members from Maine participated, held in Ostend because it was there the first Rotary Club in Europe was formed. He told of the sports, the pageants, the public demonstrations in honor of Rotary, especially the visit and address of King Albert of Belgium. Mr. Daniels contrasted the condition there, grown out of 2000 years, and conditions here in a nation 150 years old. Those people, he said, don't want wars. We need to understand them, to get together, to bring about universal peace. The next war, they declare if it comes, will be fought in the air, with destruction that will include animal and plant life. Both addresses were highly entertaining but too brief. Visiting Rotarians were J. Asbury Pitman, Salem, Mass.; Bill Stark, Orange, Texas; E. K. Leighton, Waterville; Ernest M. Martin, Portland; Harry Jackson, Lebanon, N. H.; Al. Young, Boston; John Bird, Camden, and Malcolm Young, Boston, was a visitor.

CALVIN M. ROGERS

Master Mariner of the Old School Comes To the End of Long Career.

[Contributed]

On Friday last, at half past six o'clock in the morning, at Owl's Head, there passed away quietly after a month's illness patiently and manfully endured, like all the chequered fortunes of his long and adventurous life, one of the most significant figures in all the State of Maine, Captain Calvin Marshall Rogers, in his 87th year.

He was the one of the very last of our old breed of Maine seamen and with him the page is turned down upon one great chapter in the industrial development of the United States of America. That was a great breed he came of—the Protestant Seafarer. It tamed the pride of Spain under Drake's leadership, put down Louis the Fourteenth and Napoleon Bonaparte, created, extended and safeguarded the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States of America, and has just lately overthrown the most recent aspirant to universal domination, William the Second of Germany. There has been nothing quite like it in this world. The English-speaking folk who have gone down to the sea in ships have seen and done the mightiest works of the Lord in modern history. Nothing could keep them away from the sea—no perils, hardships, cannibals or submarines. They have always "sailed on" again, in spite of shipwrecks by tempest or torpedo. Even the stowaways with their bastards! The world's food must be carried, its merchandise exchanged and the English-speaking seaman, whether he hailed from Liverpool and Whitehaven or from Boston and Rockland, has always been there to take his place at the wheel or before the mast, and carried on through foul and fair weather undismayed.

This is the ancient and honorable company where Calvin Rogers belongs, a lion-hearted race, modest and kindly as it was brave. One of the real old salt sort, who used no coal or oil but set their wits and stout hearts against the winds and turned them into their power to carry them over the billows. He commanded 18 vessels in all, mostly freighters and lime coasters, plying backwards and forwards from Rockland to South America and the West Indies, all sails, without a boiler to burn among them, and kept at it without pause till he was on the stroke of the seventies. At 14 he went to sea. Thereby hangs a tale. He went straight from school having first, like the true jolly tar that he was, knocked down a Rockland school-master engaged in a too free use of the strap upon a girl whose laughter had been stirred by some prank of young Calvin's.

The sea was in his blood, anyhow, like wooden legs, as the sailors used to say. His grandfather, a great old aristocrat in his own country, where he used to entertain the Governor of New Brunswick in the finest house of the neighborhood, had been a ship-builder on the shores of the Bay of Fundy, and often sailed his own ships himself to England and sold them there at excellent profits. His father and mother however, Robert Rogers and Lois Marshall Rogers, had moved first to Rockland, where the eleven-year-old Calvin went to school for three years, and later to Owl's Head, to the house in which he long supported his parents' last days, as well as the families of two sisters, one of them had been left a widow, her husband having been killed in Florida, the other of whom had died leaving her children to Calvin's care—the house in which he died. No claim of kindred or good neighborliness ever found a deaf ear in him, and the hard labor of a life-time never failed to supply him with the means of generous helpfulness.

He made his apprenticeship before the mast in the old square-riggers, mostly plying to Liverpool, and saw much of the world and of men in those days in many countries. Very soon he rose to be mate. His astonishing sea-sense, which seems to have been born in him—he never met a fog or storm he could not feel his way through—his native gift of command, (and indeed I never heard from any man a voice more that of a born leader in danger and tempest), his close and intelligent attention to duty, marked him out for rapid promotion. He was raised to captain at 19 and so he remained up to 29. There exists a remarkable record of an eye-witness as to his behaviour in a terrible gale, which may well stand as typical of the tests his manhood had to stand up to. Says Capt. F. F. Norton in The Courier-Gazette of Sept. 20, 1910, describing a voyage of the schooner Ada Ames:

"After discharging in Washington we loaded coal at Georgetown for Portland. The next night, after passing out of the Virginia capes, we took a terrible northwest gale, the very worst I have ever experienced except one only, namely the great blizzard of March 12, 1888. Only for the good and strong material and the splendid workmanship put into the construction of the Ada Ames she would surely have gone to the bottom. Our first mate was Calvin Rogers, afterwards for many years master, residing at Owl's Head and sailing from Rockland. I do not know whether he is still living or not. I can truly say that he was the toughest man to stand the cold that I ever saw saw. He could stay on deck for an hour at a time while no one else on board, even his brother William Rogers, who was second mate, could stand there for more than half an hour. I think the heaviest wind lasted about 15 or 20 hours."

Such were the scenes in which this old sea-lion, with heart of fire and aged oak, must sometimes quit himself like a man. Once, and this other scene will be enough to show his quality, he and his crew on board a rotten old craft freighted with stinking guano from South America had to man the pumps in relays for seven days and seven nights, rationed on rice and water. What a man to keep them at it! He pulled her through. He never failed to pull anything through. When at last he settled down at Owl's Head in his 70th year he had seen and done everything which the sea could show him or test him with. Well he had earned the tranquil leisure of his last 17 years with his devoted wife and only child, now Mrs. Meliah Scammon, who have made his closing days a noble, quiet sunset after all those days of storm. It was indeed a green old age, up to a month ago. In his 78th year he cut and hauled nearly eight cords of wood and saved it all, ready for the winter, besides taking good care of two cows and a horse and cultivating a flourishing garden.

An old age serene and bright
And lovely as a Lullaby night
Has led him to his grave.

Well, he has gone at last, leaving behind him two lovely little granddaughters, like flowers that blossomed late on his grand old gnarled trunk of oak, as if the undying thing after all in him were the sweetness which lay enclosed and hidden in his rugged strength. He is gone and as I said, his going marks this upon a page of history. We shall have no more sailing ships such as he delighted in. Every fishing boat has now its auxiliary engine. The world's carrying will therefore be done if not in airships at least in steam-driven iron ones, whose masts will carry no sails but only derricks. A great loss in beauty! A greater still perhaps in other ways. We shall see no school of manhood like the old ocean "studded with flying sails," the cradle that rocked the young greatness and valor of our race on both sides of the severing and yet much more uniting sea.

JOHN A. RICHARDS

John A. Richards died July 4, at the home of his daughter at Willey's Corner, after a long illness of patient suffering, being confined to his bed for 11 months. His wife died two weeks ago. The deceased was the son of John A. and Amanda (Adams) Richards, whose home was at Clark Island, England, 58 years ago and came to this country with his parents in the spring of 1871. His death has saddened the hearts of a thoroughly devoted family, which comprises one daughter, Mrs. Maynard Kinney of Willey's Corner, four sisters, Mrs. W. M. Seymour of New York City, Mrs. Robert McGee and Mrs. William Cameron of Clark Island, and five brothers, William of Massachusetts, Thomas and Richard of Clark Island, Arthur of Stonington and Haley of New York.

NORTH HAVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Beane of Lynn, Mass., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Norma Ann, July 3. Mrs. Beane was formerly Miss R. Doris Brown of this place.

Above is a tolerable likeness of Horace E. Lamb of Rockland, who is president of the Maine Coast League. Mr. Lamb comes naturally by his present interest in baseball, for he was captain of an excellent team in Rockland High School, played second base on Lowell Texile, and for a number of seasons was the crack centerfielder of the Rockland locals—probably one of the best outfielders this city has ever produced. In school he was also a member of the football and basketball teams, having captained the former two seasons. He gives to his present office a thorough knowledge of the sport, and executive ability which spells success for the League.

The League Standing

Today's standing shows that drastic measures must be taken if Rockland is not to be awarded the distance flag. One victory out of six is not at all creditable, and the fans, who want to be loyal, are getting very uneasy. Here is how it looks.

Team	Won	Lost	P. C.
Camden	5	1	.833
Belfast	3	3	.500
Rockland	1	5	.166

Belfast 8, Rockland 1

Rockland's apparent inability to win a game on home grounds was again demonstrated last night in an exhibition which was in the highest degree disappointing and unsatisfactory.

The two teams were about evenly matched from the standpoint of fielding and both gave a fine exhibition in that respect. But when it came to boxwork and batting the teams were as far apart as the north and South poles. The Rockland players hit Flinn freely, but for the most part it was mostly a case of "pop 'em up," so that only 32 batters faced him in the nine innings. There was just one happy spell in the whole evening, and that was when Loftus made his beautiful line drive over Donovan's head for a double, and Byrne drove him in with a single.

The most part was not up to the Aube flashed wit intervals, but for standard, because of his passes and wild pitches.

Charlie Small, who has been demoted in the Belfast batting order to seventh position, turned in a triple that brought in two runs, and made four fine catches in center-field. Other excellent fielding plays were made by Cole, Merewether, Paicment and Cogan.

The score.

The game to have been played by Rockland and Camden in Camden Thursday night was called off on account of unfavorable weather. Several postponed games have already accumulated and double headers will soon be in order.

Rockland plays in Belfast this afternoon, the game being called at 3 o'clock.

The Belfast management did a kindly act when it provided a row of bleacher seats along the third base line. A similar arrangement along the first base line would be greatly appreciated.

The fans will never know how near they came to losing Merewether, the new second baseman, Thursday. The Portland team of the New England League wanted him, and wanted him badly, but because he likes Rockland and because of personal friendship for Manager French, he decided to stay here, at a figure

AT FORT WILLIAMS

The passage of yachts of the Eastern Yacht Club along the Cape Shore Thursday made it impossible to carry out the scheduled program of sub-caliber practice by various batteries of the 340th Coast Artillery, Maine National Guard, encamped at Fort Williams. Drilling in preparation for firing the sub-caliber ammunition was substituted.

Thursday was Adjutant General's Day at the camp and Adjutant General James W. Hanson of Augusta and his staff arrived at the fortification about noon, and were dinner guests of Col. George E. Pogg.

The afternoon was devoted to an inspection of the camp and the men at their drills, both of which General Hanson expressed as being most satisfactory. At 5 o'clock, the general attended the first full regimental parade that has been held since the outfit went into camp, with the headquarters battery and medical drill also participating.

The regimental baseball tournament completed its first leg of elimination of the weaker teams Thursday. As the tournament now stands, Batteries A and B of the First Battalion and Batteries E and H of the Second Battalion are still in the running for the championship and a large silver trophy. On Saturday, the baseball games will be resumed.

If the old adage about an army fighting on its stomach is still true, the 240th will be a hard fighting unit when it comes out of its two weeks in camp. Plenty of wholesome food is keeping the men happy and contented, for which the kitchen detail is to be credited. As a sample of how well the regiment is eating, today's simple menu is as follows: Breakfast, cornflakes and cream, meat hash, bread and butter and coffee; dinner, roast beef and brown gravy, boiled potatoes, bread and jam, bread and butter and tea; supper, macaroni and cheese, stewed prunes, bread and butter and tea.

considerably under what he would have received from the Bayside outfit. His decision will be duly appreciated.

When is somebody going to pick off that five-dollar bill offered by Harry Berman for the first home run at Community Park? Now that the outfield grass has been mowed some of the "fence busters" should be stretching those triples into homers.

The Lewiston New England Leaguers will play in Togus Sunday. This is the first opportunity the fans will have to witness one of the New England League clubs in action and the largest attendance of the season is expected. The Togus Club has shaped up exceedingly well this season having won from Augusta the Portland Independents and Waterville Collegians, losing to the Westbrook Club by a close margin. As the National Home is located in one of the beauty spots, thousands flock there to inspect the Home and to hear the band concert which is immediately after the baseball game. The veterans are always pleased to see the visitors.

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

The Sunshine Society will meet Monday afternoon at the Latter Day Saints' room. Two quilts to knit.

There will be a meeting of Local Union No. 1066 Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock to nominate officers.

These marriage intentions have filed at City Clerk's office: Ernest Willey of Bangor and Ruth Westcott of Rockland; John J. Dolan and Clara M. Bodman, both of Rockland.

"Will you take my ad. out of the paper," phoned the patron who had advertised for "a girl to care for two children." The Courier-Gazette was hardly off the press before applications were received and the position was filled.

The beaver dam at The Bog is an object of much interest to those who have penetrated the game preserve. It is nearly 100 feet long and in some places eight feet high. The amphibious rodents have built themselves a residence which is something of an architectural marvel.

"I wouldn't know how to get along without The Courier-Gazette," writes W. C. Brown of Brooklyn, "as I find lots of Maine news. I would never hear about otherwise. I was sorry to see in Saturday's issue that Capt. Calvin Rogers had been taken away from this world. He was mate of the schooner Nantuxus with Capt. Tolman when I first met him. It was my first trip coasting. I was before the mast on the same schooner. Capt. Rogers treated me so fine I have never forgotten him. May he rest in peace."

A delegation of 20 Boy Scouts is encamped at Rockland's Island this week and will be succeeded next week by a similar delegation. Transportation is furnished by the auxiliary sloop Gertrude & Leonard. Scoutmaster John W. Thompson and Assistant Scoutmaster E. G. Thayer are in charge of the happy youngsters. The boys arise at 6 each morning and will have a daily schedule ending up with a council fire when the boys will all sit around burning logs and swap stories. Swimming, fishing, boating, hiking, games, exercises and drills will make up the program. Several times each week the sloop is manned and a deep sea fishing trip taken. Exploring trips to various islands nearby are to be made. The boys are to build a log cabin this summer. The camp will be open for about six weeks.

Unwonted quiet reigned on the Children's Playground yesterday, because of the fact that the kiddies were taking in the picnic at Oakland Park. Residents of Lincolnton street, and those who frequent that locality regularly missed the sounds of merriment.

A correspondent writes: "This little item is to tell 'em that when a well known citizen's home on Holmes street was searched one afternoon last week, it was not for 'booze' (as has been reported around the city) but for a dog. Now, dog gone it! I ain't a 'dog thief' nor am I a 'boozer.'"

Supt. of Schools E. L. Toner left Monday to take a six weeks' summer school course at Harvard. The course is a special one, being given to superintendents and comprises many phases of school supervision. It is interesting to note that Mr. West, former superintendent in Rockland, is to be one of the instructors.

The Maine Coast League games in Rockland next week fall on Tuesday and Thursday, Belfast playing here on the former day and Camden on the latter. Rockland plays in Camden Monday and in Belfast Friday. The summer is already on its last half and nobody who likes outdoor recreation should miss any of this glorious sport.

Walter W. Morse, vice president of the Eastern Casualty Insurance Co., came down from Portland to spend the holiday, and helped make up a foreman at the Country Club golf links. The other members were Mayor Carver, County Treasurer Veazie and Lincoln E. McRae. Although business compels a residence in Portland, Mr. Morse is a great believer in the Penobscot Bay region, and is always well pleased when business calls him to this city.

When Principal Elmer R. Verill visited his old home in Wayne a fortnight ago, he needs must go to the old well from which he had so often drank in his younger days. The fluid which the old oaken bucket brought to him was 100 percent prohibition stuff, but after partaking thereof the Rockland schoolmaster stepped into a hollow and sprained his left ankle. He is now back in Rockland studying pedestrianism as taught from the new angle of crutches.

Recalling previous addresses by Mrs. Carl Gray of Omaha and Cushing, there will be great interest again to hear her at the First Baptist Church tomorrow morning and evening. A cultured and brilliant woman of national fame, Mrs. Gray's membership in Knox County's summer colony gives to it a particular distinction. Another feature of the evening service at this church will be the appearance of the colored baritone, Mr. Thompson of Boston, who will sing two negro spirituals.

Motoring in Massachusetts is not without its drawbacks. Mrs. Alden Ulmer, now visiting in that State, sends the following clipping from a Boston paper: "So great was the traffic congestion leading over the Newburyport bridge, from Maine and New Hampshire, that for several hours during the late afternoon the traffic line extended back 13 miles, beyond Hampton, N. H. The congestion started about 3 o'clock and the line was longest beginning about 5 o'clock. Motorists coming down stopped in the line above Hampton and then in single column moved only a short distance at a time. Most of the motorists were more than two hours making these 13 miles from 5 to 7 o'clock."

One difficulty about the President's vacation is that so many tourists will want to keep cool with Coolidge—American Lumberman.

Next Monday Night

The coming of next Monday night, July 11, at 7.30, is a clear call to duty to every earnest citizen of Rockland. Heed duty's call. Be at—

The Baby Clinic will be held Monday from 1.30 to 3.30 in G. A. R. hall with Dr. Warren Sawborn of Augusta in attendance. All mothers with babies and pre-school children will be welcome.

One often hears a doleful story about grass growing in the streets. Rockland can beat that yarn all hollow, for there is no honest to goodness turnip plant growing in the brick sidewalk on the Eastern side of the street at "The Brook." It is very doubtful if it reaches maturity.

According to the Portland Weather Bureau the lowest temperature ever recorded in that city for a Fourth of July was reached at midnight when the mercury dropped to 51 degrees. The previous record was made in 1909. The highest temperature ever recorded by the Portland Bureau was 102 degrees on July 4, 1911. But the point in this—if it was 51 in Portland July Fourth what could it have been on the top row of bleachers in Community Park.

Rockland's newest corporation is the Rockland Awning Co., Inc., which has been organized with a capital of $10,000—all common stock. The purpose of the company is to manufacture, repair and deal in awnings, sails, tents and other canvas products. John M. Richardson is president and Helen M. Sprague is clerk. The business, which has its present home in the upper portion of the old Court-Gazette building, is now in its third year, and has developed remarkably under Mr. Richardson's direction, and the scope of operations has been widened so as to include a wide neighboring territory. Because of this increased business Mr. Richardson has built an awning factory on the land adjoining his residence and will transfer his equipment to it at the first sign of slackening business.

Raymond O. Richards, who has been in the Government service as vice consul in Cuba and South American cities, and who recently came on a 60-days' leave of absence, on account of a hospital operation, was ordered yesterday to Malaga, Spain for similar duties. He is to report in New York July 17, and sail 10 days later for Cherbourg, France on the Steamship President Roosevelt. Mr. Richards at the time of receiving his original appointment, was in the employ of the East Coast Fisheries Company. He went first to Santa Domingo, Hayti, and then supplied for consuls in Caracas and Las Vegas, Venezuela. His last station was Neuquén, Cuba, leaving there to come to a government hospital in Washington for surgical treatment. His success in the diplomatic field is very pleasing to his friends.

Shipping home suit cases full of love letters or packages of receipts and other papers that one would preserve, must be sent as first class matter through the post office, according to well established rules and regulations, but in a recent issue of the Postal Bulletin, postmasters of first class post offices have been requested to give the public to understand the ruling in such cases. It appears that mail is frequently enclosed in suitcases. Written matter, such as old letters, receipts, memorandum books in which subjects of the entire parcel to postage at first class rates. The postmaster general suggests that postal employees in every instance where suitcases are offered for mail, make inquiry. This inquiry and examination on the part of the postal officials is made that the patrons may be not later subject to inconvenience and unnecessary expense.

The Daily Vacation Bible School now in session at the Universalist and Methodist Churches is increasing in interest daily, the enrollment having nearly doubled since Tuesday. There is not an idle or uninteresting moment from the time the school opens at 9 o'clock until it closes at 11.30 a. m. Miss Brawn is in charge and with Miss Allen takes the Junior Classes. Mr. Stanley has charge of the beginners and Miss L. Anderson the primary. They are assisted by a happy group of helpers in the following: Marguerite de Roche-mont, Louise Doolittle, Irma Fickett, Lucy Frye, Evelyn Green, Mary Haskell, Evelyn Howard, Harriet Lufkin, Mary Lawry, Dorothy McGuire, Helen Mattson, Mrs. A. Pugh, Irene Strout, Sybil Young. Mr. Bird is pianist, and Mary Sylvester is registrar. It is expected that by Monday the enrollment will greatly increase, and more helpers will be needed.

SERMONETTE

Sanctify Them Through Thy Truth

The world is concerned at the abrupt indifference with which this generation is breaking away from the old truths and the conventional standards of other days—of this restless freedom from all restraint. Paul writing to Timothy warned "that in the last days perilous times shall come."

"For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, high minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God, ever learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth."

And he leads them squarely back to the truths taught in other days.

"Continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them; and that from a child thou hast known the holy scripture, which are able to make the wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus."

(W. A. H.)

Gospel Mission Services Sunday will be at 2.30 conducted by Mr. Mills and Sunday evening 7.15 by Howard Brown.

At the Congregational Church tomorrow morning Mr. Rounds will preach on the subject—"Strength Made Perfect in Weakness." The Pilgrim Choir will sing.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Cedar and Brewster streets. Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject of lesson sermon, "Sacrament." Sunday School at noon. The reading room is located at 400 Main street, over Daniels' jewelry store, and is open every week day from 2 to 5 o'clock.

At St. Peter's Church, (Episcopal) the Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, the services for tomorrow will be appropriate for the Fourth Sunday after Trinity. Holy Communion at 7.30, morning prayer and sermon at 10.30. At St. John Baptist, Thomaston, Evensong and sermon at 7 o'clock.

Salvation Army services Sunday will be 11 a. m., holiness meeting; 2 p. m. Sunday School; 8 p. m. service, subject "The Mythical Season." The church will be held at 8 p. m. Captain Clarke is now engaged in the task of selecting 50 boys and girls to go to the summer camp at Christmas Cove, South Bristol, for two weeks.

At the Pratt Memorial Church Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Comparable Service" and Miss Crockett will be the soloist. The Church School will meet at noon and Rev. Alvin C. Goddard, D. D. of Portland will preach at the evening service at 7.15. A duet will be sung by Ruth Keates and Wendel Clark, "Jesus Leads Us On." An official board meeting will be held on Monday at 7.30 p. m., subject, "Stewardship of Social Life."

Morning worship will be held at 10.30 at the Central Baptist Church when the pastor will preach from the topic "God's Inheritance." The choir will sing "Lord Speak to Me." Havergal and Lorenz. Miss Evelyn Jacobs will sing. The Bible School meets at noon with classes for all ages and a cordial welcome to strangers. The Young People's Society meets at 6.00 p. m. in the vestry. The gospel preaching service at 7.15 is an attractive hour with a rousing song service and a message by the pastor from the topic "God's Double Claim." On Tuesday evening there is always an old fashioned prayer meeting at this church.

At the First Baptist Church Mrs. Carl Gray of Nebraska will speak both morning and evening. At the 10.30 service the choir besides Mrs. Lillian Joyce will furnish music. At 7.15 the choir will sing the last time before fall and Miss Beulah Rokes will render "Love Divine" by Marks; a double duet "Soon I'm Goin' Home" by Lester will be sung by Mrs. Joyce, Miss Rokes, Marjory Gidden and Gladys Grant. Mr. Thompson, colored baritone of Boston, will do two negro spirituals by request—"Somebody's Knockin' at Your Door" and "Mary, Doan' Yo' Weep," arranged by Fisher. The public is invited to these services. Tuesday at 7.15 p. m. prayer meeting with J. W. Robinson as leader.

STRAND THEATRE

The destruction of a ship by fire is one of the many thrilling incidents in "Smoke Eaters," one of today's features. The other is "The Ramblin' Galoot," starring Buddy Roosevelt. Talking pictures are also on the program.

The house of a million mysteries! Such is the title of Warner's "Finger Prints"—in which Louise Fazenda acts uproarious dikes, aided and abetted by John T. Murray! It is the first starring vehicle of the irresistible Fazenda and it is a big success—not only of mirth but of mystery. Lloyd Bacon, son of "Light-Heart" directed the picture, which is an adaptation by Graham Baker and Edward Clark of the mystery story of Arthur Somers Roke. It depicts the search in the aforesaid house of five million dollars stolen by mail

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to all those who were so kind to us during the illness and death of our husband and father, especially to Mrs. Haines for untiring care; also for the beautiful floral offerings.

ETHYL GASOLINE

An Intimate Story of the Marvelous New Knockless Motor Fuel.

Everybody has heard that metallic "ping-ping" which occurs when an automobile is laboring up a hill or is called on for a quick pick-up.

Some call it an "engine knock." Others call it a "spark knock." Few know what it really is. But all know that it worries the driver, racks the engine, cuts down power, and entails the expense and nuisance of frequent carbon removal. And all wish that that pestiferous "knock" could be knocked out.

It can. Ethyl Gasoline "knocks out that knock."

The story of Ethyl Gasoline begins about 15 years ago—when the automobile was changing from a luxury into a utility. Then it was that Charles F. Kettering, president of the General Motors Research Laboratories and the man who had just introduced battery ignition and self-starters to the motor world, set out to discover the cause of detonation—or "knocking"—in internal combustion engines. Noticeable since the first days of motor transportation, "knocking" had become more pronounced with the use of the heavier gasoline which refiners had been compelled to introduce in order to meet the growing demand for motor fuel. Moreover, engineers were finding that as they increased the compression of motors—a thing necessary to increase efficiency—"knocking" increased. Hence, "knocking" stood in the path of automotive progress. (In fact, the compression of the present-day motor car is just under the detonation or "knocking" range when operating on ordinary gasoline under the most favorable circumstances.)

The first job of Mr. Kettering and his associates was to find out just what happens in a gasoline engine when it is "knocking." Since this involved an action occurring inside a closed cylinder, at a very high temperature and in minute fractions of a second, special instruments had to be invented. It was a long and painstaking task, but it was a task of tremendous consequence to the oil and automotive worlds. For it led to this discovery: It is the fuel and not the engine or ignition that "knocks."

In short, scientific research reduced guesses to facts. It found that the "knock" is actually caused by the too rapid combustion of gasoline in the cylinders, with the result that there is an accumulation of high pressure waves which strike against the cylinder walls so violently as to produce an audible metallic sound. It found too that while some gasolines "knock" more than others, all gasolines "knock" as the compression of the engine is increased. (Carbon deposits increase compression by decreasing the size of the combustion chamber.)

After all, is it very surprising that gasoline should have been found to be in some respects an imperfect motor fuel? It was an accidentally available fuel of which there was a great deal when the automobile came along. It has made possible the amazing advance of the automobile and is the very keystone of the arch upon which motor transportation has been built. But gasoline always had one bad fault and that is its tendency to "knock." The so-called "cracking" processes have enabled refiners in the years since to get more gasoline from crude oil and also to decrease to some extent the "knocking" tendency, but no more. What the process employed, "knocking" characteristics of gasoline still remain.

So having established that gasoline is to blame for that "knock," Mr. Kettering and his colleagues in the General Motors Research Laboratories undertook the second step—the elimination of that "knock." This phase of the research was entrusted to Thomas E. Midgley, Jr., assisted by T. A. Boyd. It was first determined that the worst "knocking" gasolines—even kerosene, in fact—could be rendered "knockless" by the addition of certain ingredients, the first of which was iodine. But to be commercially practicable, an "anti-knock" ingredient must be such that it can be produced and sold at a cost which makes the gasoline treated with it available to every motorist—and it must prove itself to be harmless to the motor and all its parts.

So starting with iodine, Mr.

Midgley proceeded with the fight to "knock out that knock." Scientific treatises have devoted thousands of words to the story of Mr. Midgley's discovery of a commercially practicable "anti-knock" ingredient—a discovery considered so important by the scientific world that the American Chemical Society awarded him in 1924 the coveted Nichols medal. But suffice it so say here that after seven years of experimentation—in which over 33,000 chemical compounds were tested in and for their effects on automobile engines—in 1921 he produced for General Motors the ingredient named Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound, which is the basis of Ethyl Gasoline.

In its economic aspects, Ethyl Gasoline is more than a better fuel for present-day automobiles. It is a fuel which operates without "knocking" in engines of higher compression, thereby making possible smaller motors, delivering more power with less fuel consumption. It is used by racing car drivers throughout this country in order to obtain the maximum motor revolutions and, in fact, has made possible small displacement, high compression racing cars now in use. Similarly, Ethyl Gasoline is the fuel used to run the latest type of airplanes of the United States Navy.

As an instrument for the further development of motor transportation and the conservation of petroleum resources, Ethyl Gasoline is of great economic value. And the combination of its present and potential advantages has led to its distribution by important oil companies throughout the United States and Canada. It is sold locally by Thurston Oil Co., 104 Park Street, Tel. 127.

Northend Location Is a Good One On Atlantic Highway.

A convenient location is that of the store of S. B. Gray on the Atlantic Highway, Camden street, just opposite the School House at Rocky Hill avenue. The store is set well back from the road giving an excellent opportunity for autoists to drive in for gas, oil or groceries.

The store carries a complete stock of confectionery, groceries, provisions, tobacco, cigars and ice cream and is able to service automobiles on gas and oil of the famous Texaco quality. A very extensive rock fill was made in order to make a level filling area and parking space. Several cars can thus be handled at once with ease.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

While musical activities seem to be somewhat at a standstill here in the city at the present time, we are assured of two exceptionally fine concerts during the summer season which should attract widespread interest among music lovers.

The first is to be a recital given under the auspices of the Chapin Class, with Mrs. Ella Bird and Miss Mabel Lamb in charge, featuring Miss Marian Marsh, pianist and organist, and Miss Adelaide Cross, soprano and pianist. The date is July 29 and the recital will be given in the auditorium of the Universalist Church. The tickets will be moderately priced, within the means of anyone who might desire to hear these two talented young women.

It is not necessary to introduce Miss Cross and Miss Marsh to the public. Through their fine talent and splendid generosity of this talent, their charm and sweetness of manner, they have endeared themselves to us all, and I am glad opportunity is to be given us to show our appreciation, even though it be in a small way, the simple purchasing of a ticket and attending the recital. I have never heard of an instance where either artist has refused to help with her music, and they always give something more than music, for they are rich in personality. We remember their music and we remember them.

In addition to the musical training Miss Cross and Miss Marsh have obtained in Rockland, they have had a year's work at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. Miss Cross has studied voice, declamation, normal course, stage deportment, Solfege, harmony and piano. Miss Marsh has devoted her time to piano, organ and choral conducting, the latter being a field which holds much promise, as it is just beginning to be invaded by women conductors, a few of which are widespread attention by their art.

Miss Cross' voice, which has already received careful instruction from Mrs. Lillian S. Coppins, has grown to lovely proportions, a distinctly lyric soprano, with beauty of quality and tone. She sings with delightful ease and intelligence. A Robinson of Camden, she being the executrix named in said will without bond.
